ENOCH A. COE'S DEFENCE.

Sowing the Seeds of Pestilence and Death on Harlem Flats.

The trial of Enoch O. Coe, the proprietor of a fertillzing factory at Newtown Creek, L. I., and who is charged with maintaining a nuisance, was resumed yesterday before Judge Gildersleeve, in Part 2 of the Court of General Sessions. Members of the New York and Brooklyn Boards of Health and several chemists were in attendance. Assistant District Attorney Bel and Colonel W. P. Prentice appeared for the prosecution, and Colonel J. R. Fellows for the accessed.

Mr. F. W. Arvino, chemist at Coo's factory, do scribed the process by which he claimed to control the odors escaping from the establishment, and testi-Bed that at the present time there were no offensive

Dr. James Crane, president of the Brooklyn Board of Heath; Dr. Joseph B. Raymond, superintendent, and Dr. William Fiske, sanitary inspector, testified that they visited Coe's factory on Friday last. The only odor that they perceived on their approach to the factory and when they were inside was chlorine gas. They witnessed the process of the manufacture of fertilizers and saw the materials put into tuos and mixed. The smell of chloride of lime was distinctly perceptible. This lime was sprinkled about the factory, and Mr. Arvine pointed out to them a number tory, and Mr. Arvine pointed out to them a number of barrels containing quantities of it. They also witnessed the new process for consuming the refuse studge of without creating an odor.

Professor Whitam N. Jornson, Professor of Chemistry in Yate Codege, textshed that he visited Cocks factory on Friday, and the only odor which he perceived in or near it was chrome. He considered that the smell which emanated from the lactory on Friday was not effensive.

Professor tus ave theory, of Baitmore, also visited the factory on Frida, last, and was emissive detection up to process. On the occasion of a former visit the smell was exceedingly disagreeable, but now the use of cloride of time had apparently abated it. Professor Liebig noticed a great improvement in the process.

processor belows then produced samples of the ma-tern is used at Coo's factory and offered to have the manufacturing process game inrough before the jury in order to satisfy them that no our snell result of from the operation. Assistant District attorney Bell objected on the ground that the surcondings were en-tirely different in a court room from what hey were at Coo's factory. Judge Gidersleves sustained the objection and the case for the delence closed. Coun-ter will sum up this morning.

THE GRAND JURY'S WORK.

No additional inquiries were made by the Grand Jury yesterday into the alleged licensing by the Board of Health of certain establishments claimed to be public nuisances, almost the entire session being occupied in investigating the action of the Board of Aldermen. The inquiry as to the Board of Health has been adjourned for a lew days in order, it is said, to obtain additional testimony.

Detectives Field and O'Connor notified the parties indicted for maintaining nuisances and fourteen of them presented themselves at the office of the District them presented themselves at the office of the District Attorney yesterday and furnished but in $500 each to await trial. The others against whom indictments have been found will probably give bonds to-day. INVESTIGATING THE ALDERIMEN.

An investigation was also bein by the Grand Jury into the sileged diegal acts of the Board of Aldermea in issuing permits for the erection of fruit stands, newspaper booths and other street encumbrances. District Attorney Phelps was present as the legal activiser to the Grand Jury and examined a number of the city officials who were summoned to attend. Mr. the city officials who were summoned to attend. Mr. Alian Campbell, Commissioner of Public Works: Foseph Blumential, Supermendent of Encombrances; Corporation Counsel White and Francis J. Twomey, Clerk of the Common Council, were interrogated at some length. A sublocal was also issued to Mayor Ely, who sent a communication announcing his willingness to attend, but did not appear up to the hour of adjournment. The investigation will be resumed to-day.

HABLEM FLATS READY FOR THEIR SUMMER FXHALATIONS - DUMPING REFUSE AND GAR-BAGE UNDER THE VERY NOSES OF THE CITI-ZENS.

assant the nostrils of residents of the East side, there are few or none that equal the stench from the Harlem Plats in the summer time. The broad expanse of marsh that was years are of the nature of the great salt meadows of New Jersey, but which is now inersected at right angles by high embankments, on which run streets and avenues, is very sparsely settled, and the large majority of the residents are molested, protest vigorously at times against the way in which the city has undertaken to make the ground valuable, while prospective buyers and tenants of Hariem Fiats," and nearly all the old residents of the high ground around have been driven away by the some odors that arise from the old meadows. the powers that be, for some reason or other, have chosen to dump a large portion of the city's refuse on this ground, pleading that thereby the refuse was disposed of and the ground made available. Neither of for the refuse is so far from being disposed of that it is resolved by its own swift putrifaction into a nuisance that not only renders the flats themselves uninbabitable, but drives away the residents of the higher ground adjacent to them.

Some years ago when the use of this place for a tumping ground began popular indignation grew so bot on the subject that after a great amount of sickness had been caused and property had been depreci-ated greatly in value the city officials stopped dumping refuse there. It was only for a time, nowever, and after the excitement had passed away they began scain, though since that time they have effected a partial separation of the ashes from the garbage of be city, and by sending the worst of the latter to sea they have avoided making as great a nulsance as they PLAGRANT NEGLIGENCE.

Naturally the approach of hot weather is the signal for the anger of the public to rise as the fifth demped through the winter months is frozen, and the houseme steaches of it are imprisoned by the kinnily frost. Summer after summer the chikens who live near by or pass on business or pleasure up the First, Second or Third avenues or the East River are reminded of the clicial incapacity or worse that prevents the finding of a better dumping ground for reliase, or of a mirket for the valuable part of the city's odal, Summer after summer passes by, filled with denunciations by angry taxanyers, kno see their property injured and their neaths imperience, and with shifty excuses by officials, who allege that it is impossible to do anything with purefying dith, except to spread to over the ground to breed disease through one city. And winter after winter find the patient public wearied with trying to unite red tapp, and giad of even a temporary respite from annoyance.

tween Sixty-fifth and Eighty-sixth streets. He was there to see that no garbage was dumped. He said, in answer to further questions, that he attended to his duties thoroughly in this respect, and that there was no garbage dumped there, excepting such as was mixed with the asnes in the barreis in front of houses, and that three men were employed on the ground to separate this from the ashes, and it was then taken away. Even the paper and such light refuse as would burn was ourned at night, and the old tin cans were cast in a heap to one side. This last statement was corroborated by the presence of many thousands of such caus in various heaps. So fair a seeming had this story that the reporter was almost convinced that the work was at last receiving proper attention, and when the inspector invited him frankly to go down and look at the dumping of the loads himself, it seemed hardly worth while. He turned to go, however, and the inspector fell behind him for a lew steps, whereupon the reporter looked around and saw a noteworthy thing. A cart was just coming to the ground, and the man mentioned as being with the inspector was motioning with his hands to the driver of the cart to go back. The driver was turning his norse aside when the leapector, who saw that the reporter had noticed the manouve, called to him to come on and he did so.

had noticed the manouvre, called to him to come on and he did so.

Mork Garriand Res Ham Ashus.

The dumping tround was found to be covered with mounds of refuse, each mound being a cart load criher of street sweepings or of ashes and garbage mixed. In some of them was there a preponderance of ashes over garbage, but in many if not in all there was more garbage than ashes. The three men were at work with pitchforks leveling down the mounds, and it is only proper to say that when they ame across any large and eashy discernible mass of vegetable refuse they pitched it to one side. The small pieces, however, such as potato parings, rotten pea pods and the like, were left with the ashes, and a size sing smell was apparent that only needed a little more heat and a lavoring wind to spread postiones broadcast. The inspector looked on with apparent satisfaction. "The ashes are levelled own", "he said, "and then the street dirt is spread over them."

over them."
"But are all these small bits of rotten vegetable matter left in the ashes?" asked the reporter,
"Ob, yes, we can't get that separated," was the

These small bits mentioned composed at least twenty per cent in the bulk of so-called ashes.

Presently the cart which the nameless individual had tried to head off was emptied. Its load proved to be almost entirely of garbage, and the reporter called the inspector's attention to it. Thereupon the driver was build.

the inspector's attention to it. Thereupon the driver was halled,
"What do you bring that here for?" said the inspector. "Don't you know better?"
"it's only one barreliui," said the driver. "The garbage man had gone by and I thought it would be better to bring it than to leave it."
"Well, you ought to know better than to bring garbage here," said the inspector mildly, and the driver drove off.
A careful inspection of the ground showed that the "filling" was composed exactly as the inspector had explained—of ashes and garbage mixed, covered with street sweepings. A paper which he showed, bearing the signature of Captain Gunner, declared that the work was done by order of the Police Board and approved by the Board of Health. This work has been done through the winter and spring, and the early summer is likely to show the results. Judging by the simely osterday (though the inspector declared there was none apparent to him) the first hot days will bring out a stench as bad as those from Hunter's Point and certainly of as uangerous a kind.

GREENLEAF, NORRIS & CO. In the affairs of Greenical, Norris & Co., a decision has been rendered by the referee, ex-Judge Joseph S. Bosworth. He says the evidence produced before him justifies the conclusion that it was understood between Greenleaf, Norris & Co. and their custom ers, for whom and on whose order the firm bought stocks on the security of a margin that the firm stocks on the security of a margin that the firm might, according to the usual course of such business, pleuge or hypothecate, as security for loans to the firm, the stocks thus bought. This bring so, the mere pleuge of such stocks would not be of tisell a conversion for which a right of action would accrue to the customer. The ooligation of the firm in such a case would be to keep on hand sufficient like stocks, and the quantity bought, on payment hy the customer to the firm of the amount owing to the firm on account of such purchase.

* * As to stock bought for a customer, and which can be identified in the hands of any pledgee of the firm who has sold it, such customer may, as I am at present advised, elect to ratify such sate, if he has done nothing inconsistent with his right to make such election, and claim the price at which it was sold. If the proceeds of stock thus identified have come to the receiver's hands the customer may follow them. If the stock has come to the receiver's hands, the customer may reach it, and have a delivery of it, by paying to the receiver the amount owing to the firm in respect to it.

* * These views accord substantially with the positions assumed by Mr. Selah Chamberlint, the receiver of Greenleat, Norris & Co.

Mr. Whitams, agent at that place, had bim removed to the station and thence to St. John's Riverside Hospital, at Youkers, where a surgical examination showed that Mr. Edwards that received some sever injuries. It is supposed that on perceiving the approach of a train he had pressed against the signal wires which caused him to recound against the train and so he was injured, the signal wire being found broken at that point. THE COURTS.

The Estate of the Late John Winthrop Chanler.

A WOMAN'S WEAPONS OF WAR.

Important Decision as to Creditors' Lieus on Trust Estates.

The late William B. Astor in 1860 settled over $1,000,000 on his granddaughter, Miss Margaret A. Winthrop Chapler, which after her death was to go to the benefit of her children. Following this antenuptial settlement another was made of a similar character succeeding her marriage. Mrs. Chapler before her death made a will making use of the appointing power which she supposed she had under these two deeds of trust. She also gave out of the sureties in her possession $100,000 to her husband and an annuity of $1,000 to her lather. After her death Mr. Chanter had the United States Trust Com pany appointed guardians of the ten children survivng Mrs. Chanler. After Mr. Chanler's death several legal questions arose, growing out of that trust and legal questions arose, growing out of that trust and the respective wills of Mra and Mr. Chanler. Mr. John Jacob Astor and the other trustees desired to have the United States Trust Company substituted for them, but the question aloes as to whether their trust had not expired; also, whether their trust company as trustee or general guardian. A friendly suit was brought in the Surrough of the Case was recently tried before Judge Van Brunt, who yesterday rendered an elaborate opinion in the case. Judge Van Brunt deedes that Mr. Chanler, having procured from the surrogate the appointment of the trust company, outde not revoke it by will or otherwise without the consent of the Surrogate. The second question was whether the trusts for the children were void, so that they took the property absolutely—in other words, whether the property should it turned over to the United States trust Company as guardian or as trustee, under the decises to Whitam B. Astor and the will of Mr. Chanler. He decides that the trusts in Mr. Astor's first deed are valid as to the real estate, but void as to the personality; that the trusts in deer the second deed are valid as to the other real estate, but void as to the property bordines will are declared void. The United States Trust Company is appointed the new trusts e, and the $100,000 left to Mr. Chanler are to be of securities at par, without regiff to p emisure. In the proceedings to determine the amount to be allowed the children defing their minority he thinks that $50,000 a year is too much, as apt to produce habits of expenditure above their final income, and fixes $30,000 as the amount to be allowed for the maintenance of the children. the respective wills of Mrs. and Mr. Chanler. CREDITORS OUT IN THE COLD. Judge Sanford, in Superior Court, Special Term vesterday, requered an important decision in severa suits brought by judgment creditors against the ca tate of the late Fulton Cutting, who died in 1875 Cutting had no property, but his mother left to her executors a large share of her property in trust for him he to receive the rents and income during his lile and being given a power to appoint by will who mail take the property after his death. By his will, which was probated in November, 1875, he appointed such persons. His creditors then brought suit to have the estate applied in payment of their claims. They insisted that the power conferred on Cutting by his mother's will was effection and operative to entitle them, in equity, to a lien upon the property over which the power extended. The Judge says there can be no doubt that prior to the adoption of the Revisco Statutes the actual exercise of a general beneficial power of appointment over property operated to render such property habic, as assets, to the actual soil of creditors in breference to the came of the appointers. This doctrine was founded on the principle that the absolute power of conveying or disposing of property for one's own benefit makes the person to whom it is given the owner. In the present case, under the Revisco Statutes, the Judge honds that the power is unauthorized and void; that the trust vested in the executors of Cutting's mother was a vite one, and that the estate is not subject to the lieus of creditors. shall take the property after his death. By his will,

PROFESSIONAL SLANDER. There was concluded yesterday, before Chief Jus tice Alker and a jury, to Part 1 of the Marine Court, a slander suit brought by Dr. John Frederick against claimed, as tended to impair his professional reputation, and after a practice of filtern years without any such imputation he left justified in appearing to the courts. In charging the jusy chief Justice Aiker laid down the law as relating to the subject of professional standard to the effect that, where a professional standard to the effect that, where a professional man is charged with incadactly in his practice, and thereby sustains damage in his professional standing and reputation, he is entitled to exempjary damage. It appeared in the course of the testimony, in which Professors Jacoby and Carnochan participated, that Dr. Froderick was a regular graduate and a physician in good standing, and although several physicians were called to test, you behalf of defendant none of them contradicted those statements. The respective parties were amply represented by comme, who lought the case during three days, the plaintiff being represented by J. C. J. Binni as attorney and charles W. Brooke and Aix Rander J. Reavey as counsel, and the oriendant by ex-Judge Van Cott. The jury found in layor of plaintiff and gave nim $50 damage. tion, and after a practice of fitteen years without any

A COLORED MAN AS JUROR. For the first time in the history of our State courts In this city a colored man sat yesterday as juror in a trial. The name of the jurer is James D. Turner, and his appearance in the jury box, sandwicked be and his appearance in the jury box, sandwiched between a robust Teuton and an attenuated Celt, attracted, from the variety of the scene, he hitle mitention. The case in which this colored juror is to exercise the power conferred upon him by the flittenth constitutional amonument is being tried before Judge Van Vorst, heiding Supreme court, Circuit, and is a suit brought by Wm. B. Scott against the Miduletown, Unionville and Watergap Raifrond Company to recover $6,532 43, (animot to be due for rails, boits and other materials soid to the company. It will be remembered, however, that a coored man was called on a jury in the Stokes trial, but after examination was peremptorily challenged.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS. The Supreme Court recently gave to Stewart M Freeman the custody of his infant child. His wife, Hannah Freeman, complained that she was not allowed to see the child, and on Monday obtained in the Supreme Court a writ of habous corpus in the case. This writ was returnable yesterday, but Mra. Freeman's counsel not putting in an appearance she went in quest of him. Not finding her lawyer she rewent in quest of him. Not finding her lawyer she re-turned, and encountering her husband began beisbor-ing him over the head with her parasol, breaking the handle. An officer put an end to these boutle demon-strations, but scarcely had peace been restores when her counsel came upon the scene. Mrs. Freeman then went for him with her dismembered narasol, when an officer again and to interfere to conquer a peace. Finanty the matter as to the child was post-poned till Saturday.

SWILL MILK AND VIENNA BREAD.

In the Brooklyn C.reutt Court, before Judge Pratt, the case of Louis Fleischmann against James Gordon Benuett came up yesterday. The plaintiff is the proprictor of the "Vienna Model Bakery," at the corner of Broadway and Tentu street, New York. He sues for alleged libels published in the NEW YORK HERALD, owners of "800 diseased cows fed on distillery slops," owaers of "800 diseased cows fed on distillery slops," giving "12,800 quarts of lactent poison daily," "and that the milk and cream used in said establishment, corner of Broadway and Tenth street, New York city, were poisonous and impure, and that the same were produced in lithly dens at Blissville, and were mixed with excrement from diseased cows, which had been fed upon poisoned food or nuwholesome lood, and that this plaintiff manufactured broad which was produced by the use of said milk abrosaid and was unfit for use, and that both it and said milk and cream would cause the death of infants and sick people."

The defendant denies the allegations of plaintiff's complaint, and avers that the alleged libels are true and are fair reports of the trul of Gaff, Felischmann & Co., en an indictment found against them by the trand Jury under the law to prevent the traffic is unwholesome milk.

traind Jury under the law to prevent the traffic in unwholesome mile.

The case was called yesterday morning, and a motion made by the defendant's connect that the cause been, at the request of the piantid's attorney, set down for the 20th link; that attorwars he had written defendant's attorney that he could not attend to it on that day, and asking that it be set cown for Thursday, the 23d, or Monday, the 27th. The defendant's attorney and his counsel, Elbridge T.

Gerry, consented to the case going over till the 27th links, and made their arrangements accordingly.

Afterward the plaintiff's counsel, huding there would be to court on Monday, the 27th, receded from the arrangement and sought to have the case tried the term. Judge Prait, after hearing counsel, set the
